BAR / CAFE

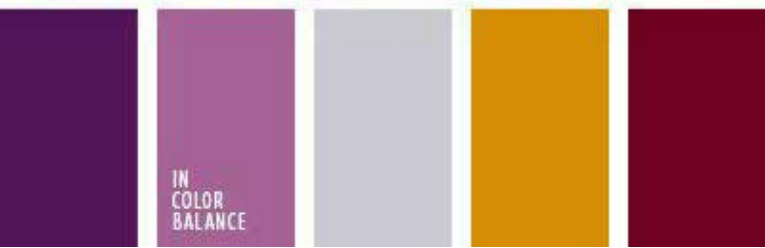

Whichever room you have decided to buy an art for, our advice is to think about the atmosphere you would like to create in that space.

Some art pieces have a noisy energy to them, and hence such works fit well within busy environments like the living, dining and kitchen.

Calmer pieces work better, in areas where you would want to have a quieter setting such as bedrooms, spa room, home office or library. It is also equally important to consider the scale of the room before you zero in for a size of artwork.

INSTANT COLOR PALETTE

Choosing a color palette can be the most daunting step of designing your space. It can be difficult to narrow down the possibilities of color combinations that would best fit your vision for the space.

Our advice would be to leave the paint catalogue behind and focus on searching for an art piece instead. Once you find a painting you absolutely love, you can use the piece as an inspiration for your room's color palette!

Your first step would be to pick up 2 to 3 shades from the art piece that you have selected for the room. Choose the dominant color and also a few additional shades as accents.

Now look for bringing in those colors in the form of cushions, throws, book covers or any other artifacts you would use to decorate the space.

THINK BEFORE YOU HANG

It sounds obvious, but try not to hang your paintings too high, even if you have high ceilings. They should be at your eye level.

Choose from warm white to cool white picture lights, according to the tones in the artwork or room color scheme that you would like to highlight.
